

MAN GRAND JURY FAILS TO INDICT ARRESTED

Samuel Edwards, Cleveland Negro, Back in Jail on Petit Larceny Charge

Liberty was of short duration for Samuel Edwards, Cleveland negro, after the grand jury which reported here

Wednesday afternoon failed to indict him on a burglary charge which had held him in the county jail several weeks.

Shortly after Edwards' release from jail he was arrested on a petit larceny charge filed by J. H. Tabler, captain of the Cleveland police, and yesterday was back in jail on a charge of petit larceny before Municipal Judge William R. Martin.

Edwards was arrested several weeks ago near Huntington, Ind., after he was alleged to have burglarized the freight car in the Erie yards here and then entered a Kansas store at Lima the same night. It is claimed that he was taken to the Lima hospital, in which it is claimed he took candy and other merchandise.

The petit larceny charge, on which Edwards is now held, was filed in connection with the freight car burglary case.

"WHAT'LL I DO?" QUERIES MAE

Mae Murray, possessor of the screen's most famous pair of "bee-stung" lips, is worried—really quite seriously. Having severed her connections with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, she can't decide for whom she wants to work. Three companies are said to be bidding for her services and one producer hopes to get her signature in a contract calling for three pictures annually, at a salary of $700,000 and 25 per cent of the profits.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO HEAD LEGION DRIVE

Membership Campaign Arranged in Conjunction with Finance Plan

Plans for a campaign to increase the membership of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 102, of the American Legion, which have been in a preliminary stage during the last few weeks, took definite form today with an announcement that a special committee has been appointed to head the drive.

The committee, composed of Paul G. Boyd, Paul Knappenberg, John Woodcock, O. M. Baldridge and T. E. Kinney, was appointed by A. W. Sandrick, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, who stated that an effort will be made to double the membership before the close of the year.

The membership campaign will be carried on in conjunction with a movement recently launched to finance a new legion home project here. Funds for the home are to be raised by promotion of an insurance savings plan in which all Marion citizens are to be asked to cooperate.

The Bird-McGinnis Post enrollment is now about 180. The membership, to be up to the average for cities of this size, should be at least 250, local legion officers say.

Congress in Hodge Podge, Speaking of Alignment

What Is a Republican These Times? And What Is a Democrat?

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Politically the senate has been a hodge podge for a long time. Democrats have voted with Republicans.

Republicans with Democrats. Party lines have meant next to nothing.

In the house of representatives it has been possible to guess with some certainty who was with whom.

Now the two parties have been shuffled in the lower house, too, until it is impossible to tell 'em apart.

WHAT is a Republican these times, anyway? What is a Democrat? Well, it seems fair to call Calvin Coolidge a sample Republican. He was elected president as one.

So suppose we assume that a man who supports Coolidge's policies is a Republican; that a man who fights them is a Democrat.

What, then, are you going to say of 74 Republican representatives who cast anti-Coolidge votes the other day? What are you going to say of 58 Democrats who voted on Coolidge's side?

About all you can say is that you're all mixed up.

It was on the very bill.

President Coolidge favored a bill authorizing 19 new cruisers. So far, so good. There was no particular kick on that.

But congressmen "authorities" cranked until it was black in the face and it means no more ships unless money is appropriated, too, to build them.

The "big boys" folk said, "Besides this authorization, we want cash, actually to build three boats."

"No," said President Coolidge. "The authorization is enough."

At this the "big boys" cranked back.

Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut introduced an amendment to the "authorization" bill, its purpose was to provide money for a start on those cruisers.

Bear this in mind: Tilson is Republican leader in the house of representatives. When a Republican says the House wants a Republican president.

JOHN Q. TILSON

TILSON's amendment was passed. The president was asked to sign it.

But the amendment was not signed. It had been passed by a majority of 200 to 100. As a matter of fact he was only 100.

Here's the answer, then. Representative Tilson is a Democrat. Democrats voted to throw the president to the wall. It could have been done in 1920, but the president would have won. But about a third of the Democrats refused to follow him and voted the Republican president.

THIS is the result.

1. A kick in the eye for the president for winning by only two votes instead of half a billion or more and for having such a kick in his party as Tilson and Speaker Clegg worth supporting him.

2. A kick in the eye for Tilson for being able, as Republican leader, to line up only 74 out of his nominal force of 217 representatives.

3. A poke at the nose for Garret for being shown up as a Democratic leader with about as unreliable a following as Tilson.

4. A kick in the eye for the House for being able to pass a bill without the support of the president.

5. A kick in the eye for the Senate for being able to pass a bill without the support of the president.

CÉLEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Porter

Mr. and Mrs. Porter, former residents of Green Camp, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, R. R. No. 5, Troup, Texas. Twenty-two relatives and friends assisted in celebrating the anniversary including Mrs. Frances Dowell, 225 Chase-st., this city, and Mrs. Emma Porter, of Green Camp, sisters-in-law. Mrs. Emma Porter and C. L. Dowell, sister and brother of Mrs. Porter, were the only ones in attendance at the celebration who attended the wedding of a half century ago. In celebration of the occasion Mrs. Porter rang the same old dinner bell that was used on the day of her wedding and which was taken as a cherished possession from the old home at Green Camp to the Texas ranch. Mr. Porter, who is 72 years of age, and his wife, who is 68, are enjoying the best of health.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT ZERO WEATHER STARTS ON PAGE 1

storm did not reach proportions to make travel unsafe for careful drivers, but delayed travel somewhat. Trains, traction cars and buses had difficulty keeping on schedule. Several trains into Marion were a few minutes behind time and one train was three hours late.

Lifting of the cold within 24 hours is unusual in so sudden and bitter a cold wave. Marion has experienced all sorts of weather this week. Snow fell on several occasions, and the mercury has ranged high enough for rain to fall. On Thursday it was raining for several hours, only to turn to sleet and later to snow. Friday found it warmer, only to be followed by one of the periods of bitterest cold this winter.

The cold wave at this period is just two days behind the one which struck this section a year ago. On Jan. 13, 1925, the mercury dropped nearly to zero, and then climbed slowly back to reasonable temperatures again. A year ago today the thermometer readings were 34 for high and 25 degrees below for low. This comparatively warm period followed one in which the mercury stood at from two to four degrees above zero for several days.

When the full force of the cold wave is felt, the mercury will drop to near zero, probably touching the lowest point tomorrow morning.

After this dip in the mercury, the cold spell will probably remain until Monday, when a gradually rising temperature is forecast.

TWO MEN PLEAD GUILTY; THREE DENY CHARGES

Persons Indicted By Grand Jury Arraigned Before Judge Scofield

Two of the men indicted by the last grand jury, and arraigned before Judge George B. Scofield in Common Pleas Court this morning pleaded guilty, three pleaded not guilty, and one entered a plea of guilty to one count of the indictment and not guilty to the second count.

Early preliminary hearings for those who pleaded not guilty will be held. Judge Scofield indicated. The preliminary hearings will probably be next week. Sentencing of the two men who pleaded guilty will also be next week.

Pleas of guilty were entered by Henry Bryant, colored, and Albert Morrow, Bryant was indicted on a charge of carrying concealed weapons following his arrest by police on Nov. 9.

Morrow was indicted on a charge of stealing the automobile of Perry J. Wayland on Dec. 22.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by Earl McMiller, colored, who was indicted on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Asked by the court if he had an attorney, he said he had not, and Sylvester Larkin was appointed by Judge Scofield to defend him.

Richard McKinney, colored, pleaded not guilty, and announced that he had made arrangements for an attorney. He was indicted on a charge of shooting with intent to kill on Dec. 20.

To Hire Attorney
Henry Jerome, arrested on a charge of participating in the robbery of the Sinclair Refining Co. office on Dec. 23, pleaded not guilty to both indictments against him. He was indicted on a charge of burglary and also on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He said he would have an attorney by this afternoon.

John Baker, indicted on two counts, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an auto without regard for the safety of others, but pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He protested that he had been tried and sentenced once on the driving while intoxicated charge and that he did not see how he could be brought up again on this charge. He did not have an attorney and Judge Scofield said one would be appointed.

R. E. Bishop, indicted on a statutory charge, was not arraigned with the others, but Judge Scofield said he would be in court later today. Bishop is out on bond.

FINE MAN ON CHARGES OF POCKETBOOK THEFTS

Thomas Brown, 48, Assessed $20; Found Guilty of Petit Larceny

Charged with having stolen two pocketbooks containing $7.38 from a store where he was a guest, Thomas Brown, 48, until recently employed at the Fern Restaurant on W. Center-st., was found guilty of petit larceny in a trial before Municipal Judge William R. Martin this morning and was fined $20 and costs.

Brown was taken into custody on W. Center-st. by local police last night after a complaint had been filed against him by Mrs. Bertha Taylor of 300 Columbia-st. She alleged that while Brown was calling on a young woman acquaintance at the Taylor home he took the two pocketbooks from a table in the living room and disappeared. One of the pocketbooks was the property of Mrs. Taylor and the other belonged to a Mrs. Van Horn, who was visiting at the Taylor home.

Trail Man
Mrs. Taylor was notified after Brown left the Verity grocery store at the corner of Park-st. and W. Columbia-st. and there he is alleged to have brandished a meat knife, threatening any one who tried to lay hands on him.

Police were notified after Brown left the Verity store and he was captured about an hour later on Center-st. by Mrs. Taylor.

The affidavit filed against Brown charged him with intoxication in addition to petit larceny. He pleaded guilty to the petit larceny charge. His conviction before Judge Martin followed. He is held at the county jail pending payment of the two fines.

Torture
Torture was the subject of the trial showed that talking with descriptions of that in the stolen pocketbooks was found in Brown's possession.

COUNCIL BODY FAILS TO FINISH CITY'S BUDGET

Action on Annual Appropriation Ordinance Postponed Until Next Wednesday

Although in session all of yesterday afternoon at the office of City Auditor J. L. Landis, the finance committee of Council found it impossible to complete preparation of the annual appropriation ordinance covering municipal expenses for 1927. As a consequence, enactment of the ordinance, expected to take place at a session of Council last night, was postponed until next Wednesday night.

Heads of various city offices and departments were in conference with the finance committee during the afternoon, going over budgets containing estimates of expenses made for the coming year. Some of the budget estimates were higher than the finance committee would agree to approve. It was announced following the conference, necessitating a number of adjustments. The time consumed in reducing budget totals to meet the committee's requirements was the main obstacle to completing the appropriation ordinance.

Cut Many Items
Although cuts were made in numerous items listed in the budgets, finance committee members stated today that none of the reductions were large enough to cripple operations in any of the city departments during the year.

Previous to the finance committee session, heads of all departments had been furnished with figures showing what their revenues from taxes and other sources will total during 1927. These statements were accompanied by instructions to keep the budget amounts below the estimated revenue.

When the appropriation ordinance is finally completed for passage next Wednesday night, the total amount allowed for all municipal expenses will be considerably less than the revenue to be received, making certain that the city will live within its income during 1927, finance committee members state.

The committee consists of R. E. Prentiss, chairman; Charles Schmidt and A. H. Williams. City Solicitor Geran and City Auditor Landis were also in attendance at the conference yesterday afternoon.

A man in Hollows Fall, Va., who has over 40,000 apple trees set out in rows on the side of a hill, plans to run the sap by pipe lines to storage tanks at the foot of the hill. In this way he expects to save the expense involved in the usual method of gathering.

Charles Brooks, a negro of Philadelphia, learned he could get a job in Chattanooga. Having no money for railroad fare, he mounted his bicycle and pedaled all the way to the Tennessee city, making the trip in eleven days.

Frank Yount, who 25 years ago was a farm hand for $2 a day, has refused an offer of $20,000,000 for his oil holdings near Beaumont, Texas. His present income is estimated at $60,000 a day.

FRIENDS ASK AID FOR FIRE VICTIMS

Saving only the clothes they were wearing at the time, Charles Jones and his family, lost practically everything they owned yesterday when fire swept their home at 578 Thompson-st. There are eight children in the Jones family, the oldest only 14 years.

The family spent the night in the homes of friends and neighbors, who are caring for the children as well as they can until some arrangements can be made for their relocation. The children were distributed among several families, many of these homes already crowded, to take them out of the bitter cold of last night.

Everything in the house was destroyed. Clothing, furniture and all personal belongings went up in the flames. The family is practically without means. Neighbors, sympathetic to the citizens of Marion who are able to assist the family with clothing, furniture or other household goods to aid the family in getting started again, and establish a home once more. Donations may be made direct to the neighbors or through any of the city charitable or relief organizations, who will see that the gifts are turned over to the family.

Home of Charles Jones, Father of Eight, Reduced to Ruins

The home of Charles Jones, 578 Thompson-st., and all of its contents are in ruins today as the result of a fire which swept the building about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fire is believed to have started from an over-heated stove in the front room. The loss, fully covered by insurance, is placed at $15,000.

Although the walls of the dwelling, as was noted, are still standing, the interior was completely gutted so that it is regarded as a total loss. It was impossible to save any of the furniture, due to the fact that the flames had gained such progress when discovered that no one could safely enter the building.

No Fire at Home
No one was at home when the fire broke out, Mr. Jones being at his place of employment and Mrs. Jones having gone upon an shopping trip early in the afternoon.

It is possible that the home might have been partly saved had it been going to the scene of the blaze not been held up by trees standing on the Kenyon and Silver-st. crossings. Departments No. 2 and No. 3 responded to the call, No. 2 being blocked by a train on Silver-st. and No. 3 on Kenyon-st. Both were delayed about two minutes. Fire Chief McFarland stated today.

With weather hovering around the zero mark, women at departments No. 1 and No. 2 were called out at 5:35 this morning to the home of H. W. Cramer, 147 Olney-st., where a fire had become ignited in the chimney and threatened to set fire to the roof. The flames did not extend beyond the chimney, however, and the building was not damaged.

SENTIMENT IS AGAINST

President and State Department Deluged With Protests From Organizations

Washington, Jan. 15.—Enormous pressure, none of it political, some of it economic, and a great deal of it religious, is being brought to bear upon President Coolidge not to sanction a break in relations with Mexico.

Ever since the Mexican situation became delicate, the White House and State Department have been in receipt of the normal flow of the country's opinion, pro and con, but since Mr. Coolidge sent his special message to congress, there has been literally a bombardment of Washington by mail and telegraph. Hundreds of such communications have come from Protestant church organizations in the last few days.

The general tenor of these protests was pictured today in a lengthy statement made public today by the Federal Council of Churches, through Dr. R. Parkes Calhoun, New York, president of the Protestant church of the country. Dr. Calhoun said, are opposed to any application of force to settle difficulties either in Mexico or Nicaragua.

City Prison Crowded With Lodgers As Cold Winds Howl

MARION'S free municipal lodging apartment at the City Prison was taxed to capacity, last night, when the snow wave drove 31 groups of varied ages, size and color to the place for shelter.

All of the cell bunks were occupied by two or more sleepers and others found repose on the cement floors of the prison.

The ragged lodgers came from all parts of the country, the prison register shows. Included were several nervous who designated different points in southern states as their places of residence, and those men, accustomed to the warmth of the Sunny South, were particularly grateful for the city's generosity in furnishing them with protection against the cold.

"You are the most appreciative man I ever met," was the heartfelt expression of one negro from Tennessee when provided with bunk space by Desk Sergeant Claude S. Wertz shortly before 10 o'clock last night.

The city's relief department, headed by Relief Officer Charles M. Tobin, is also experiencing a marked increase in business as a result of the recent long stretch of winter weather, culminating in last night's zero temperature. Mr. Tobin states that calls for assistance are steadily growing in number as winter advances and that during the last few weeks his department has provided numerous poor families throughout the city with fuel, food, clothing and other supplies.

Named Defendants
The Mascone Temple Co. and all other prospective heirs to the estate were named as defendants.

A few months later Judge Westenhaver gave his decision sustaining the demand filed by the executors and on Nov. 9, 1926, this ruling was upheld by three judges sitting in the Court of Appeals at Cincinnati.

Shortly after action was started in the Federal court, the other part attacking the will was filed in the Marion County Court of Common Pleas by Walter L. Freese and others, relatives of Burr Raicheley. This is the case which is scheduled to come up for hearing should the United States Supreme Court sustain the judgment of the other Federal Courts or the plaintiffs decide to bring their Federal Court proceedings to a close.

Lived Alone
Burr Raicheley, whose extensive property holdings are involved in the controversy, was unmarried and resided alone in the old Raicheley homestead at Church and State-sts, opposite the post office.

In the Federal Court proceedings, Gutley, Strelitz & Gutley, Mousen, Young & Mousen and John H. Hartman are counsel for the Mascone Temple Co. and James H. Eymon is attorney for Harry J. Meredith and Clyde C. Smith, executors of the will. Kansas City and Toledo lawyers represent Mae Berg and Frederick C. Raicheley, the plaintiffs.

The saying, "It is the victors belong the spoils" was first used in a speech delivered by W. L. Marcy of New York in the United States senate in 1832.

SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY

Douglas Stansbury, Baritone. To Be Featured as Soloist On Program

The Walker-Overland Hour, to be broadcast by WJZ at 8:30 o'clock, Monday night, Jan. 17, will feature as soloist, Douglas Stansbury, baritone, with the Henry Hadley Orchestra composed of players from the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Stansbury, who will lead the orchestra, is a conductor of the orchestra during this broadcast owing to the fact that Henry Hadley is out of town.
 Douglas Stansbury, formerly of Roy's Gang, where he was known and loved by thousands of the radio audience as "Doug," was born in Canada, where at the age of six, he first appeared in public as the boy contralto of the Episcopal Church in Toronto. When eleven, he toured the U. S. and Canada with Roy's Gang. He also sang with the Pittsburgh Orchestra and later joined the Roy's Gang. His latest engagement was with the Chicago Civic Opera Company.

What is Radio-ability?

RADIO ability means that a receiving set should seem to be in direct connection with every broadcasting station by pre-given numbers, just as a telephone number is a direct connection to a home.
 Only the Day-Fan 5 gives you in its Air Telephone Directory the dial call numbers for all the stations, with the newspaper numbers on its dial, too.
 Day-Fan than of any other radio—but we would like your opinion on it, too.
 Radio ability means what is called selectivity—the ability to be listening to a powerful nearby station, shut it off with a notch-turn of the dial, and hear a station hundreds of miles away.
 This, too, we would like you to prove for your own conviction.
 Radio ability knows you are not an electrician. It delivers you the best in radio, day in and day out, without expert adjusting, delicate tuning, or calling in help. You need not know how the Day-Fan works—only that it does.
 Come in and see if you thing the various Day-Fan models, at all prices, really have "radio ability."

Radio ability means that when a station floods in as you turn the switch you may shut your eyes and think "That piano is in the next room." "That baritone is singing right beside me." "That speaker is on a platform before my eyes."
 We think this beauty and fidelity of tone is truer of

SUPREME COURT SOON TO SET RAIL VALUES

First Phase of "Greatest Law Suit in History" Is Nearing

Washington, Jan. 15.—The first phase of what has been designated in the floor of Congress as "the greatest law suit in history"—fixing the values of railroads of the United States—will begin soon in the United States Supreme Court.

The appeal of the Interstate Commerce Commission from the federal district court of southern California in the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad case brings before the court the question of what is a proper method of valuing railroads for rate-making purposes.

A difference of hundreds of millions of dollars in the final valuation of the railroads of the country under the La Follette valuation act and amendments to it may be brought about by the court's final interpretation of the law, experts say.

Valuation Controversy
Although the high court has already in many utilities cases laid down rules for valuation, the whole question of railroad valuations is thrown into controversy in the case before the court.

The late Senator La Follette contended that the valuation of railroad properties, on which rates are based, should be the original cost. Railroad lawyers contended that the true measure of valuation is the cost of reproducing them at the time the rates are made or the sale value of the properties. Since the railroads generally were built in a time of low prices a wide divergence appears in the contentions.

The California court declared that the valuation of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroad should be "the true actual value of all of the property of the company at the time used in its transportation business."

The Interstate Commerce Commission maintains that the value of railroad property for rate-making purposes is not necessarily the same as the sale value of the property.

The valuation act, as amended, the commission has pointed out, is a brief filed with the court, required it to ascertain the original cost to date of a railroad, the cost of reproduction less depreciation and this cost less depreciation.

DISTRICT COURT RULES ON CASE OF BANKRUPTCY

Decides Money from Rubber Plant Sale Should Go To Bondholders

Money received from the sale of machinery and fixtures in the Wadsworth plant of the Studebaker-Walff Rubber Co., bankrupt Marion concern, should be paid to the company's bondholders, the United States District Court of Appeals at Cincinnati decided today, practically winding up litigation which has been in progress in Federal Court several months.

J. W. Japhy, local attorney acting as trustee in the bankruptcy proceeding, has claimed that the machinery belongs to the general creditors and that revenue from its sale should be pro-rated among them.

The controversy was based on the question of whether factory equipment is to be classed as personal property or as an integral part of the real estate. As personal property, it would be regarded as belonging to the general creditors and if classed with the realty would go solely to bondholders.

Carried Mortgage
The factory land and building at Wadsworth carried a mortgage of $100,000 held by the Wadsworth Savings & Trust Co., against which bonds had been issued. The court holds that this mortgage covers machinery and fixtures.

The suit was argued as the result of a decision made by H. D. Grindle, referee in bankruptcy, who awarded the machinery to the general creditors. The Wadsworth bondholders in the Federal District Court at Toledo, where Grindle's ruling was reversed, Japhy appealed to the Cincinnati Court.

Although the Wadsworth plant is the only one mentioned in the suit, today's court decision will also apply to the Carey plant of the Studebaker-Walff Co., attorney state.

The appeal was argued on Wednesday of this week in the Cincinnati court with Hester S. Young acting as attorney for Mr. Japhy and the general creditors.
